Original Air Date: 03.29.25

APOLOGY: This show was produced very differently than usual. Do not be concerned that I'll regularly put so many commercials in the show.

Segment.01 Hello. I'm Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor of the Lighthouse Baptist Church in Santa Maria, CA, and your brain masseur. Get ready for your brain massage.

What is "common sense," and how did we lose it? What is "reasonable"? Do we understand the categories of "wickedness" and "righteousness" rightly?

The DOGE team interview was awesome. If you missed it, or want to see it again, here is the link to Bret Baier's interview with Musk and his team.[1] DOGE is finding 4 billion dollars of waste and fraud per day—seven days a week. Goal is 1 Trillion within their 130 days mandate. One major waste of taxpayer money that DOGE has not looked at, yet, is NPR — National Public Radio.

Nevertheless, NPR and PBS are going to lose taxpayer funding. I've been calling for that since the early 80s.

Kathrine Maher, CEO of NPR, was called to testify before House Oversight and Government Reform subcommittee to defend calls for ending taxpayer funding for the anti-American platform — O come on! Marjorie is right, let these people "hate America" on their own dime — that's an example of what I'll be talking about here in a minute — what happens to people's ability to reason honestly when they separate themselves from objective reality.

Anyway, so, NPR's CEO was called to testify on behalf of the taxpayer funded public radio network and it was nothing short of embarrassing. Here is a link to Laura Ingraham's take on Katherine's performance.[2] And here is a link to NPR's response, which is an example of unreason.[3]

Representative Gill (R-TX) asked "Do you believe America is addicted to white supremacy?" Mahar admitted that she did "Tweet" that, but told the committee her thinking has "evolved" since then Right! That "evolution" began November 5 when she knew accountability had turned his attention toward her. Asked, "Do you believe that America believes in black plunder and white democracy?" Answer: "I don't believe that, Sir." She was reminded of a Tweet in which she talked about a book she as reading titled "A Case for Reparations." She said, "I don't believe I've ever read that book, Sir." Gill: "You Tweeted about it." Reminded her she said she "took a day off to fully read A Case For Reparations."

Now, here is why I'm bringing this to you as part of my lead for today's show: Katherine has a view of truth that illustrates why Liberals are uncomfortable with it. For Katherine, the "idea of the truth is complicated!"

[INSERT 12]

Truth is malleable? Only in the mind of someone who has disconnected their reason from reality as God made it in exchange for an ever changing reality in evolution. Talk about a house on sand!

It's time for your brain massage.

[TRUTH]

What is "common sense," and how have so many in America lost it? What is "reasonable"? Do we understand the categories of "wickedness" and "righteousness" rightly?

God invites reason. He invented it!

He says in Isaiah 1, verse 18, "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

Isaiah 1, verse 18, "Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord." God invites reason.

He also speaks of the unreasonable and wicked: Paul asked for prayer that he would be delivered from "unreasonable and wicked men," and explained, "For all men have not faith."

Unreason is connected with having no faith.

God is not afraid of us to argue our reasons.

The same prophet through whom God said, "come — let's reason together," also said "Produce your cause, saith the LORD; bring forth your strong reasons, saith the King of Jacob" (Isaiah 41:21).

He's not afraid you're gonna get a gotcha on Him. You're not gonna get a gotcha on God.

He invites you to present your reasons—the only requirement is that you are honest. All honest reasoning will lead you to truth, and truth will make you free — the honest exercise of reasoning with GOD will lead you to your salvation—where though your sins be as scarlet, they'll be made white as snow.

Right reason leads to righteousness, corrupted reason leads to degenerate behavior. Right reason leads to liberty, unreason leads to tyranny.

That's because right reason is thinking that is consistent with what is, unreason is denying what is and inventing lies to replace what is with fantasies, lies, nonsense. Nonsense always prevails where common sense fails. The reverse is also true

Where does faith fit in?

Did you know that every man is born with a "measure of faith" sufficient to support common sense — that is, right reason.

Reason is not antithetical to faith. There's nothing unreasonable about faith. Faith and reason are not in an argument. God created everything, and faith is accepting the truth about everything which invariably leads to the truth about the Creator.

Our nation was founded on the principles of FAITH and REASON. Reason, operating within the context of what is will always produce the result of truth—what corresponds to what is.

Any reasoning that's within the context of objective reality is going to be sound.

There's no conflict between reason and faith. When you are reasoning, thinking within the context of objective reality, your reasons are going to be sound. As long as they are honest, an honest reaction to and assessment of reality you will be of sound mind.

Democrats, as a Party, have denied "the faith of our founders." This puts them at odds with the Framers and positions them in conflict with God.

They've separated themselves from objective reality. So they've lost their ability to reason, well, let's just say reasonably.

This is because they've disconnected themselves from reality as God created it. Rejecting that, their brain can't work right. They can't reason.

God is all for reason. Right reason, honest assessment and response to what is, will lead you to Him.

Because reason is set within the context of Creation, man and the world as God designed them, and because Christ has lighted every man that has come into the world — that is, if you are going to take His word for it, for as John the Baptist testified that he was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light — "The true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world."[4] Who planted in every soul the "measure of faith" (Romans 12:3), Who is "manifest in them" so that even "the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead."[5] This leaves all who reject God because they say they can't "see Him" "without excuse."

I'll need to take a break, but I'll be right back. Even those who do not profess Jesus as LORD and have not humbled themselves to Him to be saved, can think true thoughts—according to Paul, they can discern His eternal power and the Godhead! These would likely be among those Jesus described as having an "honest and good heart" (Luke 8:15), and among those who "do truth" — they reason within the context of reality as GOD made it — they "do truth," Jesus said such people will "come to the light." Those that do evil, however, they hate light, and will not come to it, and Jesus explained that this is because they love darkness more than light.[6]

I'll be right back!

Segment.02 Hello. Welcome back! I'm Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor at the Lighthouse, your brain masseur, and Paul Revere's lantern lighter, lighting the lamps in the church belfry arch, signaling the enemy is on the march, an enemy that would steal from us our liberty.

I'll be at about 30 thousand feet by the time you hear this show. Pray for me! I'll be in Bend, Oregon with my very dear friend, the Prayer Evangelist, Dr. Benny Beckum with Pastor Peil and the Victory Baptist Church in Bend for a Regional Prayer Conference.

What is "common sense," and how did so many in America lose it? How do we restore it? Are political reforms enough? Actually, as you can see, good political reforms arise from common sense. So, where does common sense come from?

I laid the foundation for you in the first segment. If you missed the first segment, catch it on replay at brainmassage.net. Let's explore this further.

Common sense is not common in the sense that everybody has it. It does not refer to opinions that are popular, or even to those opinions that are held in common by a majority. The word common in the expression common sense is used similarly to how it is used in the expression common law. Laws that formed organically among men by the exercise of reason within the context of reality as God designed it are called C*ommon Law.*

I concluded the last segment showing that natural man has been given light and faith by his Creator. If he is an honest hearted person, he will be able to discern both the eternal power divine Godhead — in other words, he will see from what is visible what is invisible, and he will know there is a GOD. Furthermore, from an honest assessment of creation, taken as a whole, he will see that GOD is good.

© Jerry W. Scheidbach (All rights reserved.)

The first doctrine that arises from any honest man assessing creation is that GOD IS, and that He is the rewarder of all who diligently seek Him.[7] Faith is not anti-reason, in fact, it is the first fruit of honest reason.

Reason, exercised within the context of faith — which is fundamentally the first doctrine of right reason — which is the reason God says to all men, "Come now, let us reason together." Honest reason leads the soul to its creator. Reason has always been Christianities friend — any one saying otherwise has confused Christianity with some religions that have hijacked that name.

Romans 1:17-21 tells us that any honest broker of reason, anyone assessing reality with an honest heart, will hear GOD calling "I AM" to him from every branch of science — rightly so-called (Daniel 1:4).

There is a "science falsely so called" (1 Timothy 6:20). That's the sort of science you get when reason is separated from the fundamental first doctrine of reason: God is there to be found. All science that has developed in the context of a rejection of this first doctrine of reason will be corrupt—it will be science falsely so called.

True science arises out a heart that gets the first doctrine of reason right — all that is came from a CREATOR Who is transcendent to His creation — and frames what is objective, concrete, reality.

So, God cries "I AM" from Astronomy, He cries "I AM" from bio chemistry, He cries "I AM" from zoology, from geology, psychology, in so far as it might be called scientific, all earth science, life science, and physical science — through them all, GOD CALLS, "I AM."

Only someone who has willfully rejected objective truth would say truth is malleable, epistemologically speaking. That is to say, I'm not talking about an argument over whether this or that statement is true, I'm talking about the nature of TRUTH itself — a thing or thought that either aligns with what is or is at war against what is.

[7] Hebrews 11:6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

Men menstruate! So we need to spend a millions of taxpayer dollars to study that! Rejection of reality is the definition of insanity.

Ronald Reagan quipped that he would say Democrats spend money like drunken sailors, only, that would be an insult to the Sailors. At least they are spending their own money.

Now we have to say, Democrats spend money like people who have lost their minds, and that is what has happened. They've gone insane. Only insane people object to getting rid of MS13 and Tren de Aragua gangsters who are here illegally. Only insane people watch BLM and ANTIFA burn buildings and call it "mostly peaceful" and can be tricked into watching all the videos that have been released on J6 and say, "mostly violent insurrectionists."

Let's take a short break and when I get back, I'll point out some vulnerabilities on the right that we need to watch.

[BREAK—Cellular Tea, the healing properties of tea are well known. I put the link in my notes right here.[8] The formula was put together by Andrew St. Wilson in collaboration with medical doctors, NASA scientists, and PhD herbalists. My wife was suffering insufferable heat flashes and nothing seemed to remedy this — she started us on Andy's Cellular Tea not expecting it to treat that problem but they went away! This stuff has been connected with testimonies of people dealing with cancer, multiple statements from people who testify it helped them beat cancer, arthritis, flu issues — and my wife says it stopped her hot flashes. I was there for that one! Anyway, we talked about it and decided to take a distributorship for Cellular Tea — use

Time to wrap it up! Two things! First, Trump has done a marvelous job and he is hitting all the bases. One of my major concerns, and I think the one concern that "trumps" all others — hehe — is election integrity. He signed an EO — and I have a copy of it right here in my never tobacco stained fingers — we do miss but will never forget Rush — and this EO outlines measures he has ordered to preserve and protect the integrity of American elections.[9]

In the heat of this struggle I talked about the fact that their machine steal depends on their ability to cover it up with fake ballots, and fake voters using real ones. Without that, when an audit happens, the faked machine tally would be exposed. I said, one strategy would be to do everything possible to stop their ability to provide cover for their machine steal—and this EO does that very well.

It addresses the fake voter problem by requiring "government-issued proof of U.S. citizenship on voter registration forms. It requires using a voter verifiable paper ballot record. Also this order prohibits any State from counting votes received after Election Day. It also revoked Biden's order that turned Federal agencies into Democrat voter turnout centers.

It does somewhat address of our concerns with the machines, but, in my opinion, not adequately.

It's good that the order requires verifiable compliance with security standards for voting equipment. It forbids use of Bar codes or QR codes on ballots.

But here is the problem. Compliance with security for the machines was in place in 2020 — but it was breached. Laws against illegals voting were on the books, but they broke those laws.

I get it, under Trump, this will be watched carefully! But, well, you know what I mean.

If the Dems become sufficiently desperate, and it's clearly the case that they are insane with rage and terrified their entire Party is on the verge of extinction. The Deep State and Globalists have way too much invested to let go of their grip because, at this point, it's not merely a matter of letting some line run a while to keep the fish from jumping the hook—it's about arrests, charges, court, convictions and JAIL TIME — or to be delivered to a military tribunal for execution for treason! It's gotten real serious kids!

We need to outlaw use of the Dominion machines and the others — and go back to manual tabulation — all the carping about it taking too long is nonsense, something that has been explained and modeled by experts — we need to secure our elections by eliminating these cursed machines.

If the enemies of our liberties, if the woke decide to go for broke, they could go for a crash and grab, or a smash and steal! In other words, they could set up the machines to give them the result they want, and then create massive confusion over how to proceed with governance until we've sorted it all out — meanwhile giving them time to run for it, or shut down the government. At least add a provision that says in such an event, the existing government continues until it's all sorted out.

They obviously don't care about leaving evidence behind. They left huge amounts of evidence behind their last steal — these people are the "violent that take" the kingdom by force — Trump's EO goes a very long way toward restoring election integrity — maybe we can get Congress to prohibit use of the machines when they take up this Executive action to formulate it into LAW of the LAND.

Finally, and this is why I spent so much time on the issue of reason and faith — our founders framed this government within the context of reason guided by faith. So long as honest men accept the first doctrine of reason — GOD IS and HE REWARDS those nations who seek Him with favor and blessing, and those who forget Him by turning them into Hell — we will do well. Allow this government to again come into the power of the unreasonable and wicked — you get tyranny! Not me! For me, it's give me liberty, or give me death.
