

Dr. Jerry Scheidbach

Brain Massage®: Show No. 1109

ON THIS ANNIVERSARY OF OUR CONSTITUTION - LET'S CELEBRATE OUR LIBERTIES / THE EASIEST CHOICE OF ANY ELECTION IN U.S. HISTORY!

Original Air Date: 09.19.26

Segment.01 Hello. I'm Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor of the Lighthouse Baptist Church in Santa Maria, CA, and your brain masseur. Get ready for your brain massage.

Constitution Day!
(September 17, 1787—
The Constitution was signed by the Constitutional Convention, presided over by George Washington, then president of the Convention, gathered in Philadelphia, at Independence Hall.

Brennan just reset the clock on the statute of limitations regarding his involvement in the Russian Collusion Hoax, and his fellow conspirators, including Comey, and Obama. What this means?

The Massie Mess reeks of an unpleasant outdoor toilet.¹

This is the easiest election choice I've ever seen on any ballot in my lifetime. Love America, vote Republican. Hate America, vote Democrat. God has made it supremely simple!

It's time for your BrainMassage®:

[TRUTH]

Constitution Day! (September 17, 1787—The Constitution was signed by the Constitutional Convention, presided over by George Washington, then president of the Convention, gathered in Philadelphia, at Independence Hall.

They began in May, and after four months of wrangling and debate, the new U.S. Constitution was approved. It was sent to the Confederate Congress assembled three days later, in New York, and after eight days of debate, on September 28, 1787, it was unanimously accepted and transmitted to the states for ratification.² This concluded the deliberations of the framers, and the beginning of the deliberations of the voters in each state.

During the ratification process, three principal Framers wrote essays, published by Franklin, and others, answering objections and concerns. These were Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, and John Jay (our first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court).

The principal objection was raised by those who felt it dangerous to invest so much power in the “Federal” government without a “Bill of Rights” to restrain it. A secondary concern was that it did not afford sufficient power to the national government to provide adequate security of the peace, and regulation of commerce. Eighty-five essays were written between Hamilton, Madison, and Jay, debating these objections, and assuring the public they could, with confidence, vote to ratify the Constitution: these essays came to be called “The Federalist Papers.”³ Nine of the thirteen states were required to approve the Constitution or it would not become law.

¹ 1109.4.3-Rep. Massie Forces Vote to Impeach Secretary of Defense Peter Hegseth _ U.S. Representative Thomas Massie.pdf https://massie.house.gov/news/documentsingle.aspx?DocumentID=395853&utm_source=chatgpt.com

² 1109.0.1-Constitution of the United States—A History _ National Archives https://www.archives.gov/founding-docs/more-perfect-union?utm_source=chatgpt.com

Ratification went smoothly at first: Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey ratified quickly, within three months, in December of 1787. Georgia and Connecticut ratified in January of 1788. But the voices expressing concern about restraints against any national government encroaching the natural rights of man, began to sway states away from ratification. Massachusetts ratified in February, 1788, but narrowly: 187-186. Madison felt the shift and the framers became concerned. Joseph Spencer,⁴ organizer of the Virginian Orange County Militia, and a veteran of the Revolution, former representative of Orange County, in the Virginia House of Delegates in 1780-81, and by some reputed to be the same Joseph Spencer who was imprisoned in Orange County, VA in 1773 for

³ 1109.0.6-Observing Constitution Day _ National Archives https://www.archives.gov/education/lessons/constitution-day/ratification.html?utm_source=chatgpt.com

⁴ 1109.0.7-Joseph Spencer to James Madison, 28 February 1788 https://founders.archives.gov/documents/Madison/01-10-02-0310?utm_source=chatgpt.com
PDF of Letter: 1109.0.8-Leelands-Objections https://csac.history.wisc.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/281/2018/06/Leelands-Objections.pdf?utm_source=chatgpt.com
Spencer identifies LeLand as one of Madison’s “Baptist friends”: 1109.0.9-Religion and the Federal Government, Part 1 - Religion and the Founding of the American Republic _ Exhibitions (Library of Congress) https://www.loc.gov/exhibits/religion/rel06?utm_source=chatgpt.com

preaching as a Baptist without a license,⁵ is believed to be the author of the famous letter on record, expressing concerns about the ratification failing on account of Baptist objections, stipulated in a list of 10 objections against the Constitution published by influential Baptist pastor John LeLand, and enclosed with his letter to Madison, encouraging him to meet the pastor, whom he represented was one of Madison's Baptist friends.

This meeting took place in March of 1788, at a critical pivot point in the effort to secure ratification. LeLand supported Madison to represent Orange County in the Virginia State Convention to debate ratification. News of Madison's promise to seek a Bill of Rights in amendments to the Constitution began to spread, and LeLand's endorsement of Madison is regarded as critical to his election, traditions developed close to the events that Madison promised LeLand he would see to it that the Constitution would be amended to address his concerns, particularly, his concerns about the protections of religious liberty. This news encouraged the populous Baptists to support ratification: Maryland ratified in April of 1788, S. Carolina came on board in May, and the ninth state to ratify was New Hampshire in June of 1788.

However, even with the requisite nine states threshold being met, if the populous and very influential States of Virginia and New York did not come through, ratification without them would jeopardize the integrity of any Union. Virginia had a fierce and very influential opponent to ratification in Patrick Henry, and, frankly, if you read his objections (here⁶) you'll see that many of his concerns were justified. Nevertheless, Virginia, Madison's home state, ratified the Constitution in June of 1788 by a narrow margin of only eleven votes.⁷ New York, Hamilton's home state, followed in July and passed ratification by only three votes.⁸ And what is interesting, in the context of our own life experience with New York and Virginia, the reasons that shaped the core of resistance in both States was remarkably close: The proposed Constitution gave the new federal government too much power without sufficiently securing the retained rights of the people and the states.⁹

⁵ A note on the identity of Joseph Spencer as the writer of the letter to Madison encouraging him to meet LeLand. The Letter is authentic, the author is questioned, but the best evidence points to Joseph Spencer: The writer's identity is uncertain. A Joseph Spencer (d. 1829) organized a company of Orange County militiamen at the outbreak of the Revolution, was commissioned a captain in the Continental line on 8 May 1776, and resigned his commission on 14 Nov. 1777 (JCSV, I, 62; II, 454; Heitman, Historical Register Continental, p. 511). Perhaps this was the Joseph Spencer who as a dissenting minister was jailed for preaching in Orange County in 1773 (see Lewis Peyton Little, Imprisoned Preachers and Religious Liberty in Virginia [Lynchburg, Va., 1938], pp. 380–83). https://founders.archives.gov/documents/Madison/01-10-02-0310?utm_source=chatgpt.com See footnote No. 5.

Thomas Jefferson is credited with the language in drafting the Declaration, but James Madison is the framer credited for the new nation's plan of government, while Gouvenor Morris is credited for its final written form. Madison is called the "Father of the Constitution," and Morris is chiefly known for the opening words: "We the People!" This single, elegant, and powerful phrase, replaced what was a cumbersome and in a great measure limiting enumeration of the states. Henry objected to this change: he envisioned a confederation of states, and was against a

⁶ 1109.0.13-Patrick Henry Speech Before Virginia Ratifying Convention - Teaching American History https://teachingamericanhistory.org/document/patrick-henry-virginia-ratifying-convention-va/?utm_source=chatgpt.com And especially here: 1109.0.14-Federal v. Consolidated Government_ Patrick Henry, Virginia Ratifying Convention.pdf https://press-pubs.uchicago.edu/founders/documents/v1ch8s38.html?utm_source=chatgpt.com On Henry's objection to the expression, "We the People": https://teachingamericanhistory.org/document/patrick-henry-virginia-ratifying-convention-va/?utm_source=chatgpt.com

⁷ 1109.0.12-Virginia Ratifies https://www.lva.virginia.gov/collections/educator-resources/online-classroom/stc/entries/virginia-ratifying-convention-journal-june-25-1788?utm_source=chatgpt.com

⁸ 1109.0.11-Extract from the Journal of the New York Ratifying Convention ... https://founders.archives.gov/documents/Jay/01-05-02-0041?utm_source=chatgpt.com

⁹ See 1109.0.15-New York's Ratification Statement to the United States Constitution - Historical Society of the New York Courts https://history.nycourts.gov/ratification-statement/?utm_source=chatgpt.com See also: 1109.0.16-New York Ratifying Convention. Amendments to the Constitutionpdf https://founders.archives.gov/documents/Hamilton/01-05-02-0012-0069?utm_source=chatgpt.com

consolidation of power that could become tyrannical over the people of any state. While we understand “We the People” as a fundamental assertion that government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed, Henry saw it as a loophole through which a tyrant might usurp power trampling down the will of the people in individual states. He wanted the “power of the people” decentralized, and held closer to the interests of their immediate respective homelands, and not, as was the customary characterization at that time, a power consolidated under a national government empowered to supersede the States.

We have 250 years to test the contest and it appears much has happened justifying Henry’s concerns, and at the same time, justifying the Union of the States under a federal supremacy in matters of war, and other international relations. We have had times to feel strongly that the Federal Constitution has been rightly used to protect individual, personal liberties from oppressive States, and then to have the Federal government abuse its power over the States and encroach upon the liberties of individuals in the states.

Patrick Henry more than once cautioned that while George Washington’s temper and character were superlative, and that no hint of tyranny would ever be expected from him, that we cannot assume every person, or persons, holding the massive power of the Federal government will be so endowed.

And there it is—ultimately it comes down to that. Character and temperament separate tyrants from servant statesmen. Some cannot see past the superficial overlay of the Broncs frankness, toughness, and fight, from the man who refuses to take a salary for his service, is noted as extraordinarily generous, fastidious in his observance of the Law, passionate for fair play, and honest dealing, whose selfless devotion to his beloved U.S.A. is transparent, and deep—so deep he kept going through all the attacks Hell could muster against him, and still does.

It's easy to see the hand of GOD active in the deliberations, and final wording of the frame of our One Nation Under God.

I'm preaching a series titled The Bible and the Constitution each Sunday morning. The series plan includes six messages on this topic. Come to the Lighthouse, Sunday AM, beginning at 10:45, if you show up at 11, that's fine. Meet me at the Lighthouse this Sunday.

Hey, by the way, would you like to join the “signers”? Go here,¹⁰ you can sign a digital copy of the Constitution. See my signature on the Declaration and the Constitution.¹¹ (You'll have to write in and ask for my PDFs showing my signature on the Declaration and the Constitution. It's pretty cool. I think I'll have them printed and framed for my office.

September 17, 2026 marks the 139th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. It would have never happened without the Declaration—signed by our Founders 250 years ago. Read Dr. Beckum's book, Prayer For Revival, and take a look at chapter four: The Impact of Prayer on History for a thrilling account of the hand of Providence shaping this great nation: the greatest the world has ever known.

Hold on; I'll be right back!

Segment.02 Hello. Welcome back! I'm Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor at the Lighthouse, your brain masseur, and Paul Revere's lantern

¹⁰ 1109.0.2-Constitution of the United States (1787) _ National Archives https://www.archives.gov/milestone-documents/constitution?utm_source=chatgpt.com

¹¹ 1109.0.3-My Sig on the Declaration e2ce7ce1-11e6-4da1-af79-c07486942162 1109.0.2-Constitution of the United States (1787) _ National Archives https://www.archives.gov/milestone-documents/constitution?utm_source=chatgpt.com Constitution: 1109.0.4-My Sig on the Constitution (?) e2ce7ce1-11e6-4da1-af79-c07486942162 1109.0.2-Constitution of the United States (1787) _ National Archives https://www.archives.gov/milestone-documents/constitution?utm_source=chatgpt.com [NOTE: There is an issue with this site; the document signed for the Declaration is the same as that signed for the Constitution. I emailed the National Archives to point out this issue, and I'm awaiting a response. :)].

lighter, lighting the lamps in the church belfry arch, signaling the enemy is on the march—an enemy that would steal from us our liberty.

The Massie Mess reeks of an unpleasant outdoor toilet.¹²

Brennan just reset the clock on the statute of limitations regarding his involvement in the Russian Collusion Hoax, and his fellow conspirators, including Comey, and Obama. What this means?

It means they know their goose is cooked, the jig is up, the die is cast, their number is up, and, my favorite: “you’ve been weighed in the balances and are found wanting” — written by the Hand of God on every wall they see. They know that the Statute of Limitations on their crimes will not protect them. They can’t run out the clock, but they hope they can delay judgment until they regain power. The Iranians are playing the same game.

They have one way out of this mess, and that’s to charge through it, delaying as long as they can in hopes their lord Satan will prevail over the little “American Christianettes” who are so busy praying to and serving the god of mammon they pose no threat to the “Prince of Persia,” oh, I mean the prince of the power of the air (Ephesians 2:1-2).

The roots of deep-state corruption run very deep and pulling these weeds requires special tools. If MAGA patriots don’t rise up in mass (en masse)

The Massie mess and Brennan’s belly-aching point out the importance of the upcoming November election. I know we keep saying this, but the fact is, it gets MORE TRUE every time we say it: this coming election is critical to the continuation of our liberties: MAGA Americans — you’d better figure out what side you are on. And just as GOD always does, He makes it easy.

¹² 1109.4.3-Rep. Massie Forces Vote to Impeach Secretary of Defense Peter Hegseth _ U.S. Representative Thomas Massie.pdf https://massie.house.gov/news/documentsingle.aspx?DocumentID=395853&utm_source=chatgpt.com

You can get totally lost in a spiral of conspiracy and fear, and second guessing everything Trump does without sufficient information to sort it out, or you can look at what you DO know and base your decisions on that. Satan's great tactic is to trap your decision making process in the fog of all sorts of things you DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT—you FEAR this or that, you THINK MAYBE this or that, you think ALL THIS INFORMATION carefully constructed to generate SUSPICION about this or that—but you don't KNOW.

I get so tired of this. Someone sends me some clever lying scoundrel who weaves together a series of innuendo, implications, drawn from inferences — and I say, okay, sounds interesting. Send me proof. They respond with a another carefully woven screed of implications derived from inferences: so I say, for example, tell one verified incident that provides even approximate proof of what you are alleging — and then, every time, it's crickets, or cursing. But it's NEVER PROOF.

Then, I state established, obvious, proven, factual evidence to support a rational decision, and sometimes they are so stuck, emotionally bound to the lie, they refuse to believe it's actually so simple.

I run into this phenomenon in theology. Idiots prefer the complicated, mysterious, contrivances of philosophical sophistry instead of relying on the simple declarations of Scripture. For them, it just can't be that easy.

But I'm telling you, GOD DOES NOT MAKE THE PATH FORWARD OBSCURED BY A BUNCH OF FOG, AND SMOKE, AND THE TRICK OF MANIPULATING YOU EMOTIONALLY BY INNUENDO, SUPPOSITION, ASSUMPTIONS, AND PHILOSOPHICAL MUMBO JUMBO—gobbledegook, double talk around hocus-pocus, bunk and balderdash, twaddle, drivel, claptrap and poppycock. He makes it SIMPLE!

Do you support the DIVINE principle of consent of the governed? Yes, or No? One party wants to protect the integrity of our elections, the other party wants to tear it down. They use all the methods I've mentioned above to confuse you into contradicting your own common sense. You support CONSENT of the GOVERNED, or you don't, and that's IT! Done! If you have any sense at all, the question about how you will vote is answered right there. DONE. That's plain, it's clear, it's unambiguous, it's crystal, beyond question, indisputable, unequivocal, lucid, sharply focused, bare, unveiled, and admits of NO CONFUSION, leaving NO ROOM FOR MISUNDERSTANDING —

Do you support men in women sports? Yes or No? DONE. Your decision about how you will vote in November has just been made! It's over! If you want men in female sports, you vote with SATAN for Talifreako, period. If you don't, you vote WITH TRUMP for Paxton. DONE! You don't need to spend five seconds on any question about, well, for example, how Paxton dresses. You've got to be kidding me! The guy who says, "God is nonbinary," and thinks men should be allowed to compete with women in their sports events is stupid, calloused, ignorant, ridiculous, nonsensical, moronic, and DEMONIC. There is no contest here — you either support wickedness, evil distortion of biblical truth, and something so patently unjust, and just plain WRONG as allowing any man for any reason, to take over women's sports—YOU STAND UP FOR WOMEN OR YOU DON'T. It's not complicated, it's not hard, it's EASY.

This is going to be the EASIEST election in history — it has NEVER BEEN MORE PLAIN and SIMPLE as it is right now.

A vote for Talifrico is a vote for satanic control of our country. PERIOD! The 2024 election, spiritually speaking, centered on the declaration CHRIST IS KING. That's on the ballot in November. How will America vote? If you believe the government is KING and our rights come from government, vote with the Devils that control the Democrats and some of the globalist GOPers. If you are among those who cry for Stalin to lead you, you want Pol Pot, you want to bring the KILLING FIELDS to your town, you want that, then you vote for the Democratic Socialist of America types and the Party that embraces them.

You've got a "big tent"? Really! So it's okay to bring baby killers, women haters, and despisers of common sense into your tent? Why don't you invite Lindsay Clancy to babysit your kids? Asking the question begs the obvious answer!

The Clancy trial has shown us that we have a significant number of total whack jobs out there who vote. Are you going to use some convoluted stupid nonsense about Trump's effort to stop Iran from getting a nuke, and breaking that wicked Islamo-fascist menace in the Middle East in the meanwhile, cause you to "stay home," you are a perfect example of what I'm saying.

You will allow something you DON'T KNOW ENOUGH ABOUT, to turn this country over to the power of people you KNOW PERFECTLY WELL WHAT THEY ARE ABOUT.

If you don't think this election is about the MAGA agenda, you are not as smart as I thought you were. The people who ran this country into a morass of immoral debauchery, selling children into sex slavery, opening the borders to terrorists and drug cartels, destroying the integrity of our elections to maintain their power, trampling all over our inalienable rights, and taxing us into poverty — DO NOT DESERVE YOUR VOTE! They have not earned it.

Trump has EARNED his place as champion for the cause of delivering America from the hands of Devil-Democrats and their undercover plants in the GOP. Trump is taking them all on, and I'm with him.

GOD has made it EASY BREEZY, as my friend Les would say. It's not a complicated decision, but it is a decision of GREAT CONSEQUENCE.

Finally, the evil power operating in the Democrat Party today has weaponized every institution and even our liberties against us. They weaponized our commitment to free speech, to free association, to free markets—anything and everything with the word freedom in it and replaced it with free cell phones, free healthcare; freedom of expression is weaponized into freedom to put drag queens in front of our kids and in our schools force feed them their perverse indoctrination.

They have weaponized our schools to teach our children to hate America, and embrace communism.

They weaponized our government against patriots on J-6, they weaponized every institution in our government against private citizens whose political views threatened them, they have weaponized everything, including the vote.

The VOTE is a WEAPON they use to steal power — the radicalized young people brainwashed by our weaponized school system vote aggressively and their turn out is above 80%. In a midterm, we are doing good to get 60% turnout from conservatives.

It's time to FIGHT BACK, to shoot back, with your VOTE. They are shooting down your liberties, you'd better band together and shoot back with your vote.

I was in grammar school, I think it was something like the fourth or fifth grade, when I first heard the expression “ballot box revolution.” The teacher explained that American elections separated America from every other country, at that time, because our “Revolutions” are resolved with the Ballot box and not the bullet box.

If we have a civil war in this country, if one or the other side resorts to the bullet box, it will be when we've lost the integrity of the ballot box. One side has already made violence and the threat of violence a core element of their political agenda. I saw a meme of seven high profile assassination attempts, including some that succeeded, and EVERY SINGLE ONE OF THEM WAS ATTACKED WITH VIOLENCE BY A DEMOCRAT.

A DEMOCRAT attempted to assassinate Trump, a DEMOCRAT succeeded at assassinating Charlie Kirk — it was Democrats who stormed the streets during the “Summer of Love,” and Democrats who supported their violence—if we don't shut them down with our own BALLOT BOX REVOLUTION, they'll get the power they need to open the bullet box, and do a Lenin, Stalin, Pol Pot, Castro, and Mao purge — and your MAGA hat will be a target for more than emotional outrage. They will shoot to kill.

I'll have to go over the Massie mess in greater detail, and the Brennan smoke screen effort during Saturday's BrainMassage® LIVE episode 1134 - going live at about 8 pm, Rumble, X, Truth Social, two pages on Facebook: my personal page, and the church page.

I'm continuing a series on the Bible and the Constitution and I want to encourage you on this Constitution Day weekend to visit the Lighthouse — a church that is in the trenches of spiritual warfare for our liberties. Sunday Bible study at 9:30, morning worship begins at 10:45 (if you roll in at 11, you'll be fine), Sunday evening at 5 pm, and Wednesday at 7.

I have lit the lamps in the Church belfry arch. Now let me know if you see them.

You can email me from our website, branmassage.net. That's brainmassage.net. Find the CONTACT button and click send.

You can leave a message on our Listener Response Hotline:
805.314.2114.

God bless you. God bless America! I'll see you in Church.